

PREFACE

For the fourth consecutive year, Ukrainian enterprises have been operating under the conditions of a full-scale war, which has profoundly transformed the economic environment, disrupted logistics, and redefined global trade networks. In this complex and adverse context, export activity has emerged not merely as a sector of economic engagement, but as a critical instrument of resilience and adaptive capacity. It is through exports that businesses sustain operations, preserve employment, generate foreign exchange earnings, and contribute to the financial stability of the state.

Entrepreneurs from the Lviv region, despite the manifold challenges, continue to exhibit exceptional resilience, a capacity for transformation, and strategic vision. They remain key drivers of economic recovery at both the regional and national levels.

The advancement of export-oriented activity transcends the mere expansion of foreign sales. It entails integration into global value chains, the enhancement of product quality and technological sophistication, the incorporation of international expertise, and the implementation of sustainable development standards and ethical production practices. Entry into international markets opens up new prospects for Ukrainian producers, enabling them to diversify risks, strengthen their innovation potential, and respond effectively to current global challenges.

Due to its favourable geographical location, proximity to EU markets, developed infrastructure, and dynamic entrepreneurial ecosystem, the Lviv region possesses all the necessary prerequisites to maintain its status as one of Ukraine's foremost export regions.

The Export Potential of the Lviv Region catalogue is intended to present to international stakeholders a broad spectrum of enterprises from the region with demonstrated export capacity, international experience, and readiness to engage in new partnerships. It constitutes a practical reference tool for importers, trade missions, business associations, and potential investors, offering a comprehensive overview of the opportunities presented by the business sector of Lviv.

Beyond its function as a showcase for products and services, the catalogue contributes to shaping the region's positive international image – as a reliable and forward-looking partner committed to sustainable, long-term cooperation. It marks another step toward greater visibility of Lviv's economic potential, both within Europe and globally.

Salt is produced at one of the oldest enterprises in Europe in the city of Drohobych, located in Western Ukraine. The first written mention of the Drohobych saltworks dates back to 1390. And since then, the salt production technology here has practically not changed. Saline brines are naturally formed at a depth of 50 meters in the depths of the earth. Later, through the «salt windows» at the enterprise, they are extracted to the surface, filled with pans that are heated. Water evaporates in them, and salt crystallizes. Thus, we get a unique product, which has no analogues in Europe in terms of manufacturing technology and taste properties.*
